In any single day in the market since July 28, and a fair inference from it was that at least a pretty large amount of temporary cleaning out of the market had been accomplished. Therefore, after an opening break, which carried quotations down quite a little below yesterday's close, but which was not effective in inducing further considerable liquidation, speculators for the decline made haste to secure their profits, and also speculators for the rise ventured to buy a few stocks.

COTTON MARKET.

Quotations furnished by W. B. Hibbs & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, Hibbs

New York, Nov. 29,-The market ruled firm during New York, Nov. 29.—The market ruled firm during the late afternoon. It was supported chiefly on cables, said to have been received from Manchester, reporting a big business doing there in cloths and yarns, and also in spot cotton. These advices were, however, not borne out in the early official reports on the action of the Liverpool markets for either spot cotton or futures. Spots, for instance, were 13 English points lower to-day than yesterday, or 65c per bale, with sales of but 8,000 bales, while futures closed 2½ to 4 points lower.

As for the crop estimate of 10,400,000 bales, said to have been put out here this afternoon, which to have been put out here this afternoon, which the sales of the crop estimate of 10,400,000 bales, said to have been put out here this afternoon, which the sales of the crop estimate of 10,400,000 bales, said to have been put out here this afternoon, which the sales of the crop estimate of 10,400,000 bales, said to have been put out here this afternoon, which the sales of the crop estimate of 10,400,000 bales, said to have been put out here this afternoon, which the sales of the crop estimate of

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—The wheat market opened easier and so ruled until about noon when prices rallied by cent. Commission houses absorbed the offerings around 95 for May, and the little rally was caused largely by the strength in corn. Outside markets were weak. New York wired that exporter who took in wheat on September delivery, hoping to sell it abroad, will deliver same wheat on December contracts, having carried it all this time without making sales.

contrary, more disposition on the part of the country to sell and a continuation of perfect weather for moving the grain. Cash prices were again ½ to 1 cent lower, and the demand might be said to be a little bit better. A large short interest has been eliminated to-day, but there is no reason to change opinion in regard to ultimately lower prices. As in com, oats shorts were the best buyers. Part of the strength of to-day's market may be attributed to a report that Eastern holders of December contracts will take delivery and ship out the grain. Cash prices were steady, the demand being large enough to absorb the light receipts. Provisions had a further advance and held part of the improvement at the close. Packers were sellers of lard, and there was considerable profit-taking by holders in ribs and pork. Cash trade continues slow. The early advance in hog prices and strength in corn were the chief sustaining factors on this

HUNDRED ARTICLES SOLD.

Art Collections of Late John Russell Young Go at Auction. The sale of the extensive art collections of the late John Russell Young, including antique Chinese and Japanese porcelains diplomatic mementoes, &c., opened at Sloan's art galleries at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon before an exceptionally large assemblage of purchasers. Bric-a-brac, small pieces of furniture, ivory miniatures, prints, and etchings comprised the large portion of the first day's selling. Nearly one hundred articles were disposed of, including some valuable Persian rugs. Altogether, there are more than 700 pieces to be sold, the auction continuing until Friday.

Wants Father's Will Set Aside. A caveat to the will of the late George W. Scheerer was filed yesterday by three of his daughters and his son. They alleged that he was mentally incapable of making a will and that he was under the influence of his daughter, Miss Annie Scheerer, to whom he left the bulk of his estate. The children are represented by Attorney W. E. Ambrose, Evangelist Upshaw Draws Crowds.
